SUNS HOST COMMUNITY OUTREACH IN NOGALES, MEXICO

Suns teamed up with the U.S. Consulate General Nogales and the City of Nogales, Sonora to host a day of community outreach. President Jason Rowley, Ring of Honor member Tom Chambers, Suns alumni Steven Hunter, Tim Kempton and Horacio Llamas participated in a press conference announcing the Suns donation of more than 10,000 pieces of team merchandise. Following the press conference, the Suns hosted a youth basketball clinic followed by a visit to DIF Nogales (similar to child protective services).

SUNS' TUCKER & APS HOST BASKETBALL COURT DEDICATION

Suns' forward P.J. Tucker, broadcaster Ann Meyers Drysdale, alumnus Steven Hunter, The Gorilla and APS hosted a basketball court dedication and ribbon-cutting ceremony at the Bullion Run Plaza Community Center in Miami, Arizona. APS and the Suns refurbished the court, hoops, lighting and scoreboards for the city's largest community center.

SUNS RETURN TO FLAGSTAFF TO HOST INTRASQUAD SCRIMMAGE, SCHOOL ASSEMBLIES & BASKETBALL CLINICS

Phoenix Suns alumni Steven Hunter and Tim Kempton, broadcaster Tom Leander and The Gorilla hosted a week-long series of fitness assemblies at elementary schools and basketball clinics at local YMCA and Boys and Girls Clubs in Flagstaff, Arizona. The week culminated in a free intrasquad scrimmage at NAU's Lawrence Walkup Skydome. Post-scrimmage fans had an opportunity to interact with the team during a Fan Fest where Suns' players and Suns' Head Coach Jeff Hornacek signed autographs.

SUNS' GOODWIN "IGNITES THE FUTURE" DURING READING ASSEMBLY FOR 1,200 STUDENTS

Phoenix Suns' rookie Archie Goodwin, President Jason Rowley, Phoenix Mayor Greg Stanton, broadcaster Tom Leander and The Gorilla "Ignited the Future" for 1,200 Valley students during an assembly at US Airways Center that highlighted the importance of reading and education.
